Vote Here Tomorrow on Incinerator Bond Issue

Polls Open at 6 a.m.; Close at 5 in Afternoon

Whether or not Dixonites want to build an incinerator for the disposal of their garbage, will be decided at the polls here tomorrow, Tuesday. The election will be on the question of whether or not the voters favor a bond issue of $80,000 to build an incinerator. A 'yes' vote will mean a vote in favor of the incinerator. A 'no' vote will mean a vote against the incinerator.

Six polling places (listed in adjoining columns) will be manned starting at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning. They will remain open until 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when they will officially close.

Considerable interest has been shown in the incinerator issue. The city council voted unanimously in favor of it when it was up for discussion. It was necessary for the council to take action before the public could be given an opportunity to vote on the question.

The Lee County Health department is on record as opposed to the incinerator. That department favors a 'land fill' method by which the garbage it literally 'plowed under' a two foot fill of land each time it is deposited. Adherents to this method claim that it is cheaper.

Those in favor of the incineration method point out that burning the refuse is more sanitary, and cheaper in the long run. They point out that the incinerator could be erected within the city limits, thereby shortening the hauls required whereas a 'land fill' method would require purchasing land outside of the city, lengthening the haul and also requiring buildozers and other machinery to cover the garbage with dirt once it was deposited.

Rotarians Hear Hofmann

Mayor J. Fred Hofmann addressed the Dixon Rotary club this noon on the incinerator bond issue. He reviewed the garbage disposal problems of the city and traced the proposed incinerator bond issue up to the present time.

He staunchly defended the action of the council in recommending an incinerator, and referred to trips he and other members of the city council have made throughout Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa studying various methods of refuse disposal.

Steal Car Here, Are Nabbed in Chicago

According to Sheriff Gilbert P. Finch, three Dixon State hospital colony patients are being held in Chicago, at North Ave., Police station, for tampering with a car owned by H. G. Powell, who lives in a cottage along the Rock River, between Dixon and Grand Detour.

Information provided by Sheriff Finch, disclosed that the three youths, Robert Summers, 17, Herman Venstan, 18, and James Miller, 19, colored, took Powell's car Sunday from in front of the cottage, while the Powells' were fishing.

Later the car was involved in an accident in Chicago, and the youths were picked up.

State's Attorney Morey C. Pires indicated that the trio will be picked up on warrants charging them with "tampering with a motor vehicle." It is expected that their case will be heard in county court Tuesday.

Life and Laughter--Then SUDDEN DEATH!

It was a beautiful spring day Sunday, so Lloyd Haycraft and his wife, Mary, Monroe Center, aviation enthusiasts, decided to take a little spin in the air, viewing the countryside. Their little coupe hit some wires north of Oregon and the plane spun into the Rock river. Lloyd Haycraft, shown above under a doctor's care, tries to "pull himself together" to tell what happened. He managed to free himself and escaped with minor injuries.

In the picture below, Wendell Long of the Oregon Volunteer fire department is seen attempting to revive Mary Haycraft, whose body was pulled from the plane's wreckage. Long's efforts failed, and it is believed that Mrs. Haycraft died from shock.

Ransack Home While Family Is at Church

The home of Merritt Risetter, Rt. 50, just inside the county line, was ransacked Sunday and merchandise and money amounting to $175 was taken.

The theft occurred while the Risetters' were at church Sunday morning.

A portable Underwood typewriter, a portable radio, a ladies overnight bag, two sapphire rings, one ruby ring, two cotton slips and $30.50 in change were taken in the robbery.

Sheriff Gilbert P. Finch and Chief Deputy Charles Redebaugh are investigating.

Question Three Boys Here on Robberies

Three Dixon teen-age youths were today being questioned concerning several thefts, shop-liftings and burglaries reported to have been committed in the city during the past several months. Raymond Bush, 15, Billy Doctor and Robert Madden, 14, were apprehended Saturday and questioned by Assistant Police Chief Frank Tyne and Chief Deputy Sheriff Charles Redebaugh concerning several offenses, some which some of the trio have reportedly admitted.

The trio were released and permitted to return to their homes Saturday afternoon but the questioning was to be resumed today. Saturday it developed that the boys had taken articles from the stocks of several Dixon places of business.

Car Overturned in Oregon Crash

(Telegraph Special Service)

Oregon—Three Oregon residents escaped serious injury here Saturday morning in a collision af a passenger car and milk delivery truck at the intersection of Jefferson and Fifth streets.

Driver of the auto was Robert Stanley, 20, who was accompanied by his brother, Gene, 9. The milk truck driver was Roland Morgan, 37.

In the collision, the Stanley car was overturned but the truck was comparatively undamaged. The Stanley youths were placed under hospital observation but were shortly released.

Secretary of Navy Expected to Resign

Washington, April 25—(AP)—John L. Sullivan's decision whether to resign as secretary of the navy appeared to rest with President Truman.

Sullivan's intimates indicated he would seek a heart-to-heart talk with the chief executive on the navy's future role in defense strategy as the aftermath of work stoppage on the 65,000-ton super aircraft carrier "United States."

Sullivan himself said only that he had no comment on the decision pending study of Secretary of Defense Johnson's order Saturday discontinuing work on the $189,000,000 vessel.

He is known to hold grave doubts whether he can stay on at his post in view of his differences with Johnson on security policies.

The giant carrier was to have been built at Newport News, Va., and its keel was laid only last Monday.

Paw Paw Suit To Be Resumed Wednesday

The circuit court case in which Kathleen Rafferty, Paw Paw, asks $6,000 for injuries and her brother, Russell Rafferty, Paw Paw, seeks $5,800 auto damages resulting form an automobile accident on July 10, 1948, has been continued until Wednesday.

The Rafferty's are seeking damages from John F. Edwards, 19, of Paw Paw, who drove the car that collided with the Rafferty automobile and John B. Edwards, Paw Paw, owner of the Edward's car.

The collision occurred in LaSalle county between Paw Paw and Earlville.

Aerial Jaunt Turns Out To Be a Tragedy

Oregon—(Special)—What began as a pleasant Sunday afternoon aerial trip to Dixon ended in tragedy near here yesterday when a Piper Cub plane, containing a Monroe Center couple, struck a power line and plunged into Rock River.

The plunge resulted in the death of Mrs. Mary H. Haycraft, 49, who either drowned or died of shock. Her husband, Lloyd, 45, the pilot, and a Rockford factory worker, escaped with bruises about the head and legs after breaking his way out of the plane and making a heroic attempt to rescue his wife.

Both were brought to the Indian Village, a resort near the tragedy scene, by Bill Compton, of near Oregon, and an unidentified companion, who heard Haycraft's shouts for aid.

Ogle County Corner Fred Horner, Rochelle, said yesterday that it was his belief that Mrs. Haycraft died of shock and possibly a heart attack. An inquest has been set for May 2.

Haycraft told reporters he was cruising south over the river to enable his wife to get a better view of the scenery. He said that he did not see the wire until his plane struck it. The wire was variously estimated to be 40 to 50 feet over the river at that point.

Dives for Wife

The plane overturned and sank into about seven feet of water. Haycraft said that he thought he broke out of the plastic windshield and as he did so, he surfaced. When he noted that his wife remained in the cabin, he broke the light fabric on the belly of the ship. When he was unable to reach his wife from that angle, he dived three or four times, he said, and finally wrenched the door from his wife's side of the plane. He then brought her to the surface.

"I only heard her groan once," he told reporters who interviewed him in the Ogle county sheriff's office. "I held her over my arm as I clung to the understructure of the plane and yelled for help.

"I shouted, 'For God's sake, somebody save us,'" he said.

Haycraft said that it was his belief that his wife either was drowned during the time it took to reach her, or that she might have struck her head on the windshield of the

Elks Loot Is Found Hidden Near Sublette

Insurance policies and other papers and articles taken from the safe at the Dixon Elks club house on the morning of April 15th, have been recovered and returned, it was reported today by Sheriff G. P. Finch. The policies and papers were found at the mouth of a culvert about one-half mile north of Sublette along U. S. route 52 Saturday morning by Mr. and Mrs. George Chesley of Sublette.

Mr. and Mrs. Chesley were coming to Dixon and stopped about a half mile north of Sublette to assist a woman to change a tire. While doing so, they observed papers blowing around in a ditch and an envelope laying near the mouth of the culvert. Upon examination it bore the name of the Dixon lodge of Elks. They discovered another large envelope containing insurance policies and coin sacks which had been in the culvert. They brought the papers to Dixon and delivered them to the sheriff's office at the county jail.

Pires to Investigate Berry Shooting Today

It is expected that the reported accidental shooting of Alma Berry, 808 Jackson Blvd., early last Saturday morning by Mrs. Charles Hansen, 1009 N. Dixon Ave., will be investigated this afternoon by State's Attorney Morey C. Pires.

Official reports from KSB hospital today, indicated that the condition of Alma Berry was "good."

Miss Berry was acting as a "baby sitter" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hackbarth, 814 Jackson Ave., last Friday night.

Mrs. Hansen was taking glasses out of the Hackbarths' cupboard. She found a gun that looked like a cap pistol, pointed at the floor and the gun fired. Miss Berry was standing in the doorway and was struck in the hip by the bullet. She has been at KSB hospital since Saturday.

Robert Castle Says Thieves Took Aerial

Robert W. Castle, 518 E. Third St., has reported to the police that the aerial on his car was stolen earlier in the week.

According to Castle, his car was parked near the Dixon Chain Co., 1226 Seventh St., when the theft occurred.

Two Hold-Up Men Get $19; Carried Gun

Sam Jones, who lives across from the Medusa Portland Cement Co., plant on East River road, was held up and robbed of $19 Saturday night by two armed men.

Sheriff Gilbert P. Finch and Chief Deputy Redebaugh indicated that one of the men was colored and the other white.

Jones was putting his car in the garage when one of the men stuck a flashlight in his face and the other man poked a gun in his ribs. Jones reported that the men fled on foot in the direction of the cement plant.

Change amounting to $2 and currency of $17 was taken from Jones.

Damage of $10,000 in Fire at Mt. Morris Store Sunday

MT. MORRIS—(Special)—A fire which originated in an electric refrigeration motor caused damage estimated at $10,000 to the Messer grocery store here Sunday night, with other damage reported to adjoining buildings.

Firemen from Mt. Morris and Oregon battled the blaze for two hours before bringing it under control about 9:30 p. m. It was discovered in the rear basement by an unidentified youth who was passing by the rear of the store. Damage was confined principally to equipment and stock.

Smoke and water damage was reported in the Spricker dry goods store north of the grocery and to the Masonic lodge hall above the Spricker building. Also damaged by smoke was Slim's tavern south of the Messer store and to the Moose lodge rooms above. This damage was not estimated.

G. W. Evert, Dixon insurance adjuster, placed the preliminary damage estimate on the grocery. The loss was covered by insurance it was learned.

The grocery building is owned by Oliver Watts.

Also reelected at yesterday's meeting were Mrs. Ada Lum Walton, Madison, vice president; Arthur Symond, LaSalle, secretary; and Oscar Anderson, Rockford, treasurer.

Grand Detour to Talk Ways, Means of Housing Truck

A meeting has been called for 7:30 p. m. Thursday, April 28 at the Grand Detour town hall, at which time all property owners are urged to be in attendance, as a decision will have to be reached as to ways and means of adequately housing the rural fire protection truck which has been assigned to the township. The truck is being temporarily housed, free of rental, at the Grand Detour Standard Service station, but it will be necessary to promptly arrange for rental or erection of a suitable garage that can be heated in winter, if the truck is to be retained in the community, otherwise it will be released for use elsewhere.

At this meeting, the recently appointed volunteer firemen are requested to be present, and, in the event the truck is kept in the village, any volunteers not wishing to attend meetings, drills and actively interest themselves in the project are asked to turn in their fire suits and equipment for use by other appointees.

School Here Invaded by 'Raisin' Vandals

Albert Beede, janitor at South Central school informed the police department that someone broke the glass on the gym door and entered the school over the weekend.

According to Beede, who called the police at 8:05 a. m. Sunday, the only evidence of damage or disturbance was that raisins were scattered over the floor. An investigation by the police disclosed that the departure of the vandals had been made through the boiler room door. The door was open.

Chicagoan Fined on Fishing Count

Samuel Winston, Chicago Negro, was fined $25 by Justice of the Peace J. O. Shaubs, Dixon, Saturday, after he was arrested on a charge of possessing game fish illegally.

Conservation Officer Stoddard Danekas, who filed the complaint, said that he apprehended Winston in possession of a pike out of season and a bass of illegal length.

Winston was fishing in the Rock river at Dixon.

Cats May Roam All They Want; Governor Unworried

Springfield, Ill., April 25—(AP)—Cats in Illinois are free to continue their prowling. Governor Stevenson has vetoed the cat bill.

The bill would have declared cats straying from their own backyards a public nuisance and allowed their capture by any citizen. Owners would have been fined $1.

Stevenson said the provisions couldn't be enforced. And anyway, "it is the nature of cats to do a certain amount of unescorted roaming."

Backers wanted the bill to protect song birds. Stevenson insisted in his veto mesage that he doen't love cats more than birds. But—

"The problem of cat versus bird is as old as time. If we attempt to resolve it by legislation, who knows but what we may be called upon to take stands as well in the age old problems of dog versus cat, bird versus bird, even bird versus worm."

In the defense of cats, the governor said they perform useful service, particular by killing rats. He added:

"The state of Illinois and its local governing bodies already have enough to do without trying to control feline delinquency."

'Help-Happy' U.S. Wives in Germany Are Bored to Death

By BETTY O'REGAN

Frankfurt, Germany, April 25—(AP)—Do you know what a help-happy American wife is?

There are lots of them in Germany. They have so many servants they don't know what to do. They are bored.

"Help happiness" grows out of the monotony of life in dozens of "Little Americas" set up by the United States army.

The army has provided American soldiers, civilians and their families with ersatz 'Main Street" in every community. You can find almost everything you can find in the United States—from popcorn vending machines to super-markets.

But most Americans are bored, especially the wives.

Why?

First, the maids do all the work and leave most wives with plenty of leisure time.

Then it's the little things. The banter, the ballyhoo, the free and friendly way of life back home is missing.

The army provides one maid free for every American family. But domestic help comes cheap and a lot of families hire great batteries of servants.

The servants swarm over the house completely out of hand. To escape them, the wives, who have nothing left to do, go out to bridge.

Bridge has reached almost a mania stage in Germany. It provides escape from the non-English speaking servants in your house and gives you a chance to discuss the problem of what is wrong with the servants and the quartermaster.

"Quartermaster Happy"

Yes, the quartermaster. Some wives become "quartermaster happy."

These wives dedicate their lives to procuring more furniture for their requisitioned houses. This requires determination.

The army quartermaster corps has the job of furnishing the American homes. But it wallows in a sea of mysterious red tape and shortages.

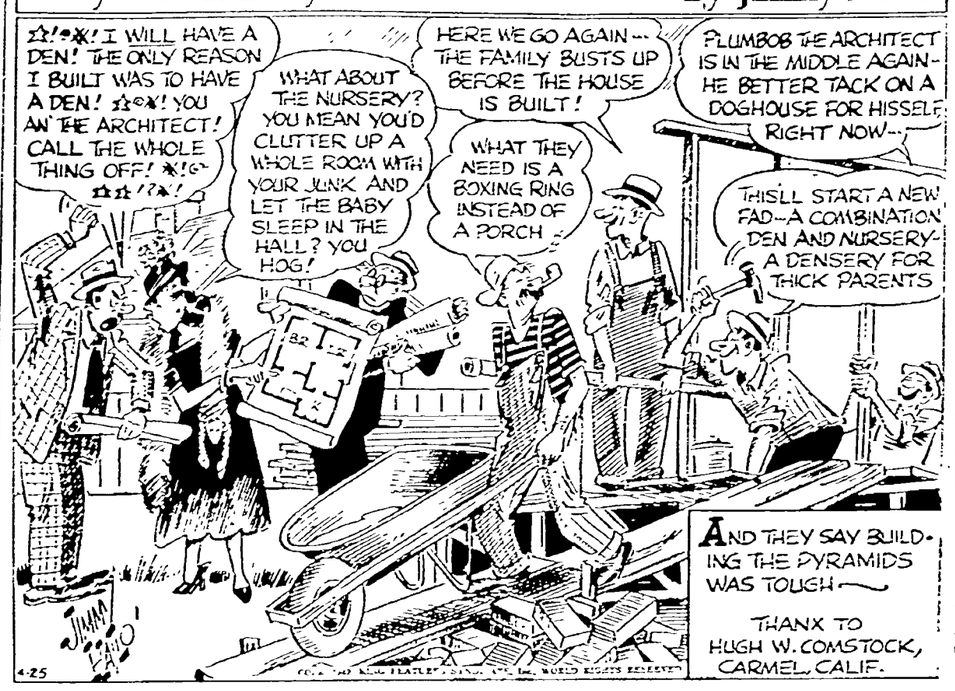

The frustrations encountered in trying to obtain a coffee pot or a drinking glass from the quartermaster tend to create psychoses. And often the most lavish post exchanges are no help. They get swim suits in mid-winter and skis in June. When you want something they always seem fresh out.

Most American groups in Germany are small. The people squeeze together. Big cities such as Berlin, Frankfurt and Munich have good German theaters, operas, concerts and night clubs.

The American attendance, however, is negligible. The army forbids you to go into German eating places. Most Americans don't understand enough German to go to plays or cabarets.

Thus families tend to see the same American faces over and over again. Differences of rank narrow the social circles. People get terribly bored with each other.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Pretty Divorcee Held in Shooting

Chicago, April 25—(AP)—A pretty science instructor and divorcee was charged yesterday with assault with intent to kill in the shooting of a male hospital aide, found abandoned in a lonely road-side ditch.

The charge was filed against Mrs. Judith Elkins, 30, after Police Sgt. Harold Leeds said she signed a statement that she shot Jay L. Shaw, 26 four times. The officer said jealousy was the motive for the shooting.

Shaw, employed at Downey Veterans hospital, is in serious condition but expected to recover.

Lt. Maurice Green said the woman told him that Shaw had molested her. Mrs. Elkins was released last night on $5,000 bond, pending police court hearing Wednesday.

Mother of the Year Was Kentucky Born

New York, April 25—(AP)—The American mother of the year is a tiny, 60 year old Kentucky-born woman, the wife of a postal worker in Fort Worth, Tex.

Mrs. Pearle Owens Gillis was named last night by the national mothers committee of the Golden Rule foundation.

Mrs. Gillis raised six children of her own, and helped educate eight others. She will come to New York May 3 to attend an American home forum and be guest of honor at a reception.

Farmer Goes Berserk, Shoots Two Officers

Abilene, Kas., April 25—(AP)—A 65-year-old farmer shot to death two officers and wounded three other persons at his home five miles south-east of here.

The farmer, Charles K. Rush, then perished in his burning house.

County Attorney John Rugh said Rush apparently went berserk early in the morning, wounded three persons then set afire two out-buildings.

A sheriff and his deputy also were shot as they approached the house.

Male Life Is Hazardous One, Report

New York, N. Y.—Males live more hazardous lives than females, according to statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, who point out that the fatal accidents are 2.3 times as frequent among males as among females. In the latest year for which detailed information is available, the accident death rate for white males was 97.7 per 100,000 and for white females 42.8.

The difference is attributed by the statisticians to "generally greater venturesomeness, and greater exposure to risk in occupation, sports, and recreation on the part of the male of the species."

A higher incidence of accidental death among males shows itself even in the first year of life, when the ratio is about one third greater for boy babies than for girl babies, and increases steadily throughout the school ages and early adult life. The difference is at its peak at ages 20 to 24, where the ratio is more than six to one.

Many Factors

Through the school ages and early adult life, the higher mortality among males is accounted for largely by motor vehicle accidents, drowning, firearms accidents, and air transportation accidents. At the working ages, occupational hazards become an important factor.

Starting at about 25 the gap between male and female accident deaths closes steadily with advance in age until, at ages 75 and over, the situation reverses and the male rate is somewhat the lower. The statisticians suggest that this may be due to the probability that aged men lead a more sedentary life than women who even at advanced ages are likely to take an active part in running the household.

The greatest difference in the vulnerability of males as compared with females, is in occupational accidents, which are very largely among males. Agricultural and air transport accident fatalities show a ratio of more than 13 to 1, railroad accidents about to 1, firearms and drowning about 6 to 1, and motor vehicle death 3½ to 1.

"Nationwide attention has been directed to industrial accidents by the President's recent conference on industrial safety," the statisticians note. "The major objective of the conference was to intensify the national campaign against occupational accidents. This should provide a stimulus to reduce the heavy loss of life and limb from accidents, particularly among men, where the problem is so largely concentrated."

Willett Says Council Wise in Voting for Incinerator

Contributed by R. H. Anderson, C. K. Willett, Consulting Engineers

During the past several months much has been said and written regarding the rubbish disposal problem of Dixon. However, there are still several very pertinent factors of the local situation which have influenced the adoption of the incinerator method of disposal. It is felt that these may have been passed over too lightly in the publicity so far and so are briefly outlined to permit full consideration of the problem.

Before going into Dixon's specific problem let us quote several excerpts from an article appearing in the April, 1949 issue of Civil Engineering entitled "Incinerator Mechanization Wins Increasing Favor" by Rolfe Eliassen, M. ASCE, professor of Sanitary Engineering, College of Engineering, New York University, New York, N. Y. Professor Eliassen is chairman of the committee on Refuse Collection and Disposal of the American Society of Civil Engineer's Sanitary Engineering Division and hence is well qualified to discuss this subject.

"Incineration of community refuse has now completed a cycle of favor, disfavor and return to favor. During the 1920's more incinerators were installed than in any other decade. In the 1930's the trend was away from incinerators toward sanitary land fills. During World War II the cycle was reversed as hundreds of incinerators were installed in Army camps. The present trend in municipal refuse disposal practice is toward a wider adoption of incinerators, as evidenced by the number of cities which now have studies and designs under way.

Equipment Needed

"Sanitary land fills are finding favor among many municipalities which have adequate waste land available within reasonable hauling distances. The use of modern earth-moving equipment such as bulldozers, bull-clam shovels and draglines has brought about economies in the preparation of fill sites and placing of cover material. Constant vigilance on the part of supervising engineers and waste disposal superintendents is necessary to assure the daily covering of refuse with a minimum depth of two feet. Without adequate supervision a land fill reverts to an open or burning dump with all the attending nuisances of odor, smoke rat harborage, and other factors injurious to public health.

"One of the major assets of well operated sanitary land fills is the reclamation of waste land, especially for open areas such as parks and storage yards. Buildings should not be constructed on the fills unless broad mat foundations are used to minimize local settling. Precautions must be taken to prevent the diffusion of the gases of decomposition, particularly methane, into entrapped areas under or within buildings, as serious explosions have occurred in buildings constructed on land fills. Since decomposition may continue for 50 years or more, time-after-fill-ing is not a factor in the consideration of land use.

"Sanitary land fills are necessary for the final disposal of incinerator ashes and non-combustible refuse such as glass and metal. Many cities use such fills in conjunction with incinerators, which can be centrally located so as to reduce the costs of collection. As these costs are the major item in the total cost of refuse collection and disposal, refuse disposal sites must be carefully selected. Although land fills may be less expensive to operate than other methods such as incinerators, the remoteness of land-fill sites may result in high hauling costs which will nullify the anticipated savings.

Incinerator Satisfactory

"Incinerators when properly designed and operated, are proving to be one of the most satisfactory means for the destruction of combustible refuse — which includes garbage. The principal factor in their return to popularity is the adoption of labor-saving mechanical equipment for the efficient handling of refuse and ashes. Another factor is the exhaustion of available areas of sanitary land fills within reasonable hauling distances. This return to favor of incinerators is indicated in a recent survey of the U.S. Public Health Service, which showed that in the near future 1,090 new incinerators would be required for municipal use throughout the United States.

"High construction and operating costs are the greatest factors standing in the way of more widespread installation of municipal incinerators. The U.S. Public Health Service estimated that the incinerators cited above would cost approximately 100 million dollars. Cost figures are not easily evaluated over wide ranges of sizes, but bids taken during 1947 and 1948 indicated that the range of construction costs for incinerator plans was from $150,000 to $250,000 per 100 ton capacity per 24-hour day. Operating costs may range from 50 cents to $1.50 per ton of refuse destroyed. These latter costs have been mounting in recent years."

The foregoing is an illustration of the thoughts of one of the foremost authorities on the subject. Incidentally, the writer became personally acquainted with Professor Eliassen during the war and feels that he knows whereof he speaks.

Collection Expensive

Getting back to Dixon's problem it has been pointed out that the collection and delivery of the rubbish to the disposal facility is the most expensive part of the operation. For this reason it is important that the hauling be reduced to the minimum and that the disposal facility be located as near the center of the area to be served as possible. Obviously there is no tract of 20 acres or more near the center of the collection area which would be necessary for a landfill operation. On the other hand there are a number of possible locations near the center of the collection area suitable for an incinerator, for which approximately an acre is required. There can be no justification for paying the cost of trucking the refuse several miles considering that the wages of three men are involved as well as truck operation and depreciation costs. Computations indicate that an additional $2,016 is required annually for each mile from the center of the area to the disposal site. Over a period of 20 years this amounts to somewhat more than $40,000 which would be the additional hauling cost to a landfill facility on the edge of the city as compared to haulage to an incinerator near the center of the city.

Deducting this from the $50,000 set up for provision of the incinerator leaves less than $40,000 for the purchase of 20 acres of land and the purchase of four tractors with a bullclam attachment for landfill operation at $12,000 each (present cost new). Four tractors are required since their useful life is considered as five years.

The above figures are for capital costs only and do not include costs of operation or maintenance of the disposal facility. For the incinerator it is estimated that operation and maintenance will require $4,400 anually which includes the cost of maintenance of a non-combustible dump, whereas the annual cost of operation and maintenance of a landfill is estimated at $4,500.

With the foregoing information it is hoped that the reader will understand that the city council has acted in the best interests of the citizens in the course of action chosen for the solution of this problem and that incinerators are not outmoded but rather that their use is increasing following a period in which the landfill method has been tried and found wanting.

Election by Default Scored by Senator

Chicago, April 25 (AP) The Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was told Saturday night that the U. S. government could not be operated by "default proxies."

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) told the group: "If you don't like the way things are being run in Washington, you must make the changes through vigorous campaigns and voting. After all, the government is our largest business and greatest investment. We cannot operate it with default proxies."

Mrs. Ruth B. Jones of Urbana was re-elected president of the federation at the end of the group's convention. Other officials, all re-elected, were: Mrs. Maxine Woodruff, Mt. Vernon, first vice-president; Mrs. Evangeline H. Fahy, Chicago, second vice president; Mrs. Rosalie Carner, Dahlgren, recording secretary; Miss Mattie McIntire, Springfield, treasurer.

The practice of tatooing decreased among primitive peoples with the advent of clothing, but is still practiced by civilized peoples.

New Labor Law Bill Fight Opens in Congress Tuesday

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, April 25—(AP)—The long-delayed debate in congress on a new labor law starts tomorrow, Tuesday, in the house.

After the house finishes, the senate tackles the problem. So it may be many weeks before we finally have a new labor law.

The house faces two problems in making a decision, and so will the senate:

1. Should the Taft-Hartley act, passed in 1947, be wiped out and replaced by the old Wagner act, passed in 1935, with some slight changes?

2. Or, should the Taft-Hartley act be kept pretty much as it is, with some slight changes?

The house has two bills before it:

1. The Lesinski bill. This bears the name of Rep. Lesinski, Michigan Democrat. This is the one favored by President Truman and organized labor.

It would knock out the T-H act and, with a few changes, restore the old Wagner act which was the law from 1935 to 1947.

2. The Wood bill. This is sponsored by Rep. Wood, Georgia Democrat. It is backed by the Republican leaders in the house and a group of southern Democrats.

Like the T-H Act

The Wood bill says it would repeal the T-H act but it is pretty much like the T-H act in many ways. Organized labor says it is the T-H act under another name.

Because house members can tack amendments, or changes, on the labor bill right on the floor of the house, no one can predict what the bill, as finally passed by the house, will look like.

House action, although debate is limited in the house, probably will use up this whole week.

Then it may be weeks before the senate acts. And, since senate debate is unlimited, it may be more weeks before the senate finally decides what kind of labor bill it wants.

So, the bills passed by house and senate probably will be different. If they are, both houses will have to agree on a single bill acceptable to both.

Even then the bill can't become law unless Truman signs it or, if he vetoes it, both houses repass it over his veto with a two-thirds vote.

It's All Confusing

And, just as no one can say what kind of a bill congress will pass, no one can say what Truman will do if he doesn't like the bill.

He and his Democrats promised last year that, if they won the election and control of congress, they'd wipe out the T-H act which the Republican-controlled congress passed in 1947.

Organized labor, fighting mad at the Republicans for the T-H act, supported Truman's campaign—and part of his victory, it least—was due to labor's support.

The Democrats won, got control of congress, and began hearings on a new bill to replace the T-H act. Those hearings went on for weeks in the first part of this year.

And the labor committees in house and senate, where Democrats outnumber the Republicans, came out with a bill which would:

Wipe out T-H and bring back the old Wagner act, with some changes. In the house this bill bore the name of Lesinski, chairman of the house labor committee. In the senate the same kind of bill bore the name of Senator Elbert Thomas, Utah Democrat, chairman of the senate labor committee.

But as the weeks passed the growls by Republicans and southern Democrats grew louder against the Thomas-Lesinski bill. And finally the Wood bill appeared. The ground is ready for the battle.

Two Injured in Big Elmwood Park Fire

Chicago, April 25—(AP)—Two firemen were slightly injured yesterday in a $550,000 fire at suburban Elmwood Park.

The fire heavily damaged a shoe store, a liquor store, two women's dress shops and a department store.

Hurt in the fire were Vernon Karnath and Ozzie Hjellum. Elmwood Fire Chief Chester Reardon estimated the damage.

White mice flown over the "hump" to scientific laboratories in China in World War II were provided with oxygen during the trip.

Whalebone is not truly the bone of a whale, but an elastic substance that grows on the roof of the mouth of the right whale and other species.

Forty seven thousand United States firm had group life insurance plans for employes by the end of 1947, compared with 25 firms in 1913.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I would sooner walk in the dark, and hold hard to a promise of my God, than trust in the light of the brightest day that ever dawned.—H. C. Spurgeon.

Soviet Explanation of Scientific Claims, Laugh

Soviet propagandists, who have laid claim to all those inventions on behalf of their countrymen, have at last invented something themselves. It is an explanation of why so many discoveries have been credited to non-Russians like Edison and the Wright brothers. The navy publication Red Fleet explains it thus:

"The struggle for priority in capitalist countries merges into a struggle to ascribe as many scientific discoveries as possible to the scholars of one's own nationality and race at the expense of other nationalities and races. The more rapacious and piratic the imperialism of the given country, the more insolent and crude is the 'spiritual expansion' of its historians of science."

There you have it, neat as a mathematical formula. False claims of achievement for a country's scientists are in direct proportion to the imperialistic ambitions of a country's government.

Silly as that sounds, the propagandists must have thought it necessary to come up with some story. For a lot of Russians probably have wondered how it was, even if their propagandists spoke the truth, that this wrong impression about electric lights and airplanes and such had been so persistent for so many years.

Now it's all clear. The discrepancy fits right in with the west's pattern of "imperialism." Further, the western countries had been telling these imperialistic lies for a couple of hundred years.

But it may be that a few of the more logical-minded Russians are still wondering as they read the honor roll of their unsung inventors. There was the remarkable Lomonossov, for instance. According to Soviet propaganda, he discovered the secrets of atomic energy and cosmic rays and also made a clockwork model of a helicopter back in the 1750's.

It was Ivan Polzunov, not James Watt, who invented the steam engine. Russians gave the world the caterpillar tractor before 1850, and several types of tractor motors in the second half of the 19th century. One Ladygin beat Edison to the electric light by six years. A. S. Popov was sending and receiving radio messages before Marconi. And so on.

Reading these claims and perhaps believing them, the logical-minded Russian must wonder why it was that other countries not only took these discoveries but also developed them. Czarist Russia, he knows, was bad. But how could this scientific progress have flourished in the monarcho-monopoly capitalist countries, which he knows were just as bad?

And why is it that none of these wonderful Russian achievements were made after the revolution? Assuming the genius of Russian scientists, our logical-minded friend may ask why this genius, growing in the ideal soil of communism, has not produced a bumper crop of inventions. Why didn't some of his Soviet comrades come forth with such things as radar, synthetic rubber, nylon, the jet plane and the atomic bomb?

Even after all the propagandists' explanations, our Russian might be forgiven for wondering if there was some flaw in their picture of his best of all possible governments surrounded by the worst of all possible imperialistic aggression.

My partner in a recent bridge game was Lanny Ross. I have always been an admirer of Lanny's since the days of his "Show Boat" radio show. The war interrupted his singing career for three or four years, but right after the war he started again with the "Lanny Ross Show."

Ross graduated from Yale University and then took up law, but before he could get a chance to pass his examinations for the bar, somebody offered him a nice contract on radio. Today he is enthusiastic about his new television show.

I have a date with Lanny to go up to his farm on "Catfish Derby" day, when he and his wife take 50 children up from New York with a guarantee that every one gets a fish. That's the kind of fishing I like.

In today's hand he had to do some fishing around for the queen of spades to make his contract. West's opening lead of the ten of diamonds was won in dummy with the queen. A small club was led and the jack finessed, losing to West's king. West returned a small diamond, which Ross won with the king.

Now the contract depended upon finding the location of the queen of spades. Ross cashed the ace of diamonds, followed by three rounds of clubs and the ace, king and queen of hearts and at this point he had "fished out" the queen of spades. When East showed out on the second diamond lead, West was marked with six diamonds. West had followed to three rounds of hearts and three rounds of clubs. Therefore, he had only one spade.

So Ross laid down dummy's ace of spades. When the queen did not fall from the West hand, he was safe in finessing the ten of spades.

Behind the Scenes at the Nation's Capitol—Timely Little Stories About Some 'Big' People

Washington—(NEA) The possibility of tacking some American "reservations" onto U. S. Senate ratification of the North Atlantic Pact has been raised by Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Taft's idea, first given utterance in a television "Meet the Press" interview, is reminiscent of post-World War I days when Senate GOP irreconcilables forced their reservations on U. S. adherence to the League of Nations and the Versailles treaty of peace. These reservations may ultimately have killed both.

Senator Taft is for the Atlantic Pact on general principles. But he believes such points as the sole right of Congress to declare war for the United States should be spelled out more clearly. Senator Taft also indicates he is opposed to rearming Europe, believing that will force Russia to go to war, instead of bringing peace.

Taft believes the Senate Foreign Relations Committee may take three or four weeks for public hearings on the pact. Senate floor debate may take two or three weeks more. That means no ratification—with or without reservations—before June.

Georgian Thinks Anderson "Peachy"

Postcard from McDonough, Ga.: "Dear Sir—Just a short time off—1952. A lot of good 'Cracker State' Democrats want to see Hon. Clinton P. Anderson, senator from New Mexico, get the 1952 Democratic presidential nomination. Believe he can weld the party together, solid. (Signed) M. B. Rougers."

Shiny Dome Bad for White House

National Defense Secretary Louis Johnson also has a claque promoting his name for Democratic presidential candidate in 1952. One of Johnson's great drawbacks is lack of hair. The United States has had only one bald president—John Quincy Adams—unless you rate the early presidents like Washington and Jefferson, who wore wigs, as baldpates.

"No Comment" on Carrier

Defense Secretary Johnson has clamped a gag on any more publicity about the Navy's fifth-of-a-mile-long aircraft carrier. Pictures and stories about the somewhat furtive keel-laying ceremonies at Newport News, Va., may be the last publicity on this project you'll see for some time.

Navy public relations men have been instructed to say "No comment," when asked about progress of construction in the future. The idea seems to be that the Air Force-Navy feud can be minimized by keeping news about the super-carrier out of print.

Senate Wives Dislike "Swing Shift"

Senate wives are up in arms over the heavy schedule of night sessions held just before the Easter recess. "I got to see my husband almost every day," says Mrs. Claude Pepper somewhat philosophically. "It used to be that a night session meant something extra and was quite impressive," says Mrs. Robert A. Taft. "Now they hold night sessions for just anything—like that Tennessee steam plant."

Ask Constitutional Convention

Representatives of United World Federalists—Young Cord Meyer's outfit—have been buttonholing congressmen. They want a resolution introduced calling on President Truman to summon a new conference of nations to revise the UN charter. Ultimate aim is to pave the way for creation of a real world government.

Three state legislatures—California, New Jersey and Maine—have already passed resolutions memorializing Congress to call a U. S. Constitutional Convention to consider a world government amendment. The idea is to have the U. S. Constitution revised so that the United States can join a world government, once it is set up.

France, Italy and India already have such provisions in their constitutions. Twenty-two state legislatures in the U. S. have resolutions on world government pending. Connecticut in 1948 elections approved world government by 11 to 1, in a popular referendum ballot. Massachusetts voters approved such a resolution nine to one in 1946.

Cartel Report Still Secret

Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall and his advisers are now studying a new report on progress in breaking up big business cartels in Germany. The report is still classified secret. No decision has been made on whether to release it. Big question is whether the report will be critical or whitewash Gen. Lucius D. Clay's military government administration of cartels.

The new investigation and report were made by a three-man mission appointed by Secretary Royall last December. On it were Garland S. Ferguson of Federal Trade Commission, Samuel S. Isseks, ex-Department of Justice anti-trust lawyer, and Andrew T. Kearney, Chicago businessman. Kearney is understood to have approved the German decartelization program as carried out. Isseks was critical. The report is believed to be mildly critical.

AMA Gets Press Agent

American Medical Association has hired the California public relations firm of Whittaker and Baxter. Its job is to handle the publicity for the A. M. A. fight against national health insurance. The Whittaker and Baxter firm has registered with Congress as a lobby, though it has set up headquarters in Chicago.

It has organized a committee of 56, with one doctor in every state and territory to direct operations. The old A. M. A. National Physicians Committee has been disbanded. It was originally set up outside the A. M. A. organization to handle the anti-health insurance campaign. The A. M. A. directors then thought they shouldn't get involved in such campaigns, for reasons of ethics. Now they're operating out in the open, with even a public relations firm.

Standing Room Only

United Nations headquarters planners have begun to worry about their future tourist business. In the face of rising building costs, plans for the new UN buildings in New York have been cut down to fit their $65,000,000 budget. Biggest auditorium planned for General Assembly sessions will seat only 1000 visitors. Crowds visiting temporary UN buildings at Lake Success and Flushing Meadows have already passed that mark.

If the new UN headquarters right in the heart of the country's biggest city becomes a major tourist attraction easy to get at, there will be no provision for taking care of the crowds.

How a Small Time Piano Player Became a 'Star'

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—At 16, Hildegarde Loretta Sell played the piano in a silent movie house in Milwaukee.

She was a plump, earnest, religious German girl, who hoped for something better.

Today, 27 years later, Hildegarde is a svelte internationally known supper club entertainer who has perhaps kissed more bald pates in public than any lady in history.

She has dropped the Loretta Sell from her name. But success hasn't made her lose the best qualities of Loretta Sell. She still is earnest, religious—and hoping for something better.

She retains a girlhood characteristic that most artists have who stay at the top in their field, an inexorable desire for self-progress.

"I still take piano lessons, because the piano is my life," she said.

"I have always wanted to play wonderfully well. Right now I'm doing the classics. I'm learning a concerto. I hope to be able to do it by 1951 with the San Francisco symphony orchestra. They've invited me."

A Perfectionist

Devoting her spare time for two and a half years to learn a 42-page concerto perfectly doesn't seem like too much trouble to her. Struggle has made her a perfectionist.

She told me something of her life and hard times as we sat in the living room of her luxurious seven-room suite at the Plaza hotel. It is the kind of suite she used to see flash on the movie screen in the days when she thumped out background music.

Hildegarde became one of the highest-priced supper club and radio entertainers after a dreary and low-paid apprenticeship. She worked in vaudeville, song-plugging, and a girl band. She trouped in London and Paris night spots.

The woman who helped work out her successful formula of wit, glamor, sentimentality—and special lighting effects—is Anna Sosenko, one of the shrewdest managers in show business.

"There was a time in Paris when I was broke," said Hildegarde, "and I would have given anything for $99 to pay my passage home. Half of me said give up, but half of me said stay. And I guess the half that wanted me to stay and keep on trying was really three quarters."

Twice a night now she descends to the Plaza's Persian room, where she has been starred for 11 years.

"I still get terribly filled up with butterflies just before I go out on the floor," she said. "But I say a quick prayer."

For an hour she whisks about, running a comb through her blonde topknot, fluttering a lace handkerchief, playing the piano with her gloves on, trading sophisticated repartee with patrons, and singing sentimental love ballads.

Pleasant Squelches

Hildy has a mind well-stocked with pleasant squelches to silence sidliners who want to stay in the spotlight too long.

"An entertainer has to have authority over the audience," she smiled. "You can't afford to lose control."

One reason for Hildy's popularity is her ability to kiss a middle-aged man on his bald pate and send him back to his table feeling like a colt or to give teen-age youngsters a motherly peck on the cheek and make him feel years older.

Someone once said the secret of Hildy's success was the fact she made "sex look funny."

"How else can sex look in a public place?" she asked.

The only unfulfilled ambition Hildegarde has is to be a painter, "and I would be one if there were ten more hours in the day."

Hildy is a bachelor girl. I asked her who was the most interesting man she had ever met. She ducked this but did say whom she would most like to be cast up on a desert isle with.

"A doctor," she smiled. "Doctors know so many things besides medicine."

How Can We Give a Child Sense of Importance

It's when children don't feel "important to the family" that they're likely to get into trouble, says a Milwaukee educator.

How can you make your children "feel important to the family?"

Here are some important ways:

Don't let them grow up feeling that they're in the way.

Without realizing the effect their words have on the children, many parents today talk as though the children were a great problem. "We'll come if we can find a baby sitter." Mama says wearily in Junior's hearing. So Junior knows from the time he can understand words that he's the only thing standing between his parents and fun. If they can get someone—just anyone in many cases—to take him off their hands they'll be free to go out and have fun. If they can't, they're stuck with him.

He's also likely to hear his mother complain often that "it's impossible to keep the house looking nice because of the children." Today women often yearn over the pictures of beautiful, immaculate rooms in women's magazines and then act resentful toward their children because they can't make their own homes look like a magazine illustration.

And if his mother is an unhappy housewife, a child is almost sure to have heard her talk about "being tied down." It doesn't take a very bright child to figure out just who is "tying her down."

Be patient with your children.

PATIENCE IS STILL A VIRTUE

A patient, easy-going mother is a rarity these days. The most overworked phrases of today's mamas are "The children get on my nerves until I think I'll scream," and "It's so wonderful to get away from the children once in a while." Neither of those remarks indicate a patient understanding attitude on the part of the mother, do they?

Teach your children to be active, working members of the family group.

Children don't feel "important to the family" if they have everything handed to them on a silver platter. Give them some responsibilities. Make them earn some of the things they want. Get them to lend a hand with family projects. But also let them have a vote when decisions that affect the whole family are being made.

Plan some social life that includes the whole family.

The old-fashioned family picnic, for instance, is a lot better for Junior than giving him some money and telling him to run along to the movie by himself or with another kid. Nothing gives children more of a feeling of family solidarity than the whole family's having fun together.

Doing things "with" the children is much better than doing things "for them."

Hollywood—(NEA) Esther Williams' reputation as a wholesome American girl is unsoiled.

But for a while the censors were worried.

It started when M-G-M submitted to the Johnston office the lyrics of a new song, "Baby, It's Cold Outside," all about a fellow trying to persuade a girl to remain in his apartment because of the temperature outside.

The censors read the lyrics and ruled that Ricardo Montalban could not sing them to Esther for a scene in the movie, "Neptune's Daughter." In fact, the censors said the lyrics could never be sung on the screen.

But Esther, Ricardo and the studio put their heads together and decided to rehearse the number as it would be done in the picture and then invite the censors out for a look.

The song was rehearsed on the theory if Esther and Ricardo remained on their feet and kept moving the censors might approve the song.

The theory was right.

Three censors from the Johnston office came to an M-G-M sound stage one day and Esther and Ricardo did the "Baby It's Cold Outside" number as it would be if approved by the Johnston office.

CHANGED THEIR MINDS

The censors went into a huddle, then one said:

"We've decided it's okay if you film it exactly as you have rehearsed. Esther always has represented the wholesome American girl and has never been involved in a bedroom situation. Because of this and the way you have staged it, we give it our approval."

That night Esther told her husband, Ben Gage, what had happened.

"Gosh," said Ben, "those censors are going to get a terrible shock when they hear we're going to have a baby."

M-G-M may get a surprise when it hears what an important role Esther is playing behind the scenes at Ben's local television show, "Rumpus Room."

The studio has an iron-clad rule about its stars appearing on TV. But there's nothing in the books about movie stars helping to stage video shows. And that's just what Esther is doing.

She's the most glamorous prop lady in television and is almost as busy behind the TV camera as Ben in front of it.

M-G-M's anti-video rule stopped Ben from having Esther as a guest on his first show but he did ask the studio for approval to sing a song to the portrait of Esther he carries in his wallet. The camera would move in for a close-up of the portrait.

The studio thought it over and decided:

No Esther on television. Not even as a wallet portrait.

Enlarged Lymph Glands May Show Hodgkins Disease

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Thomas Hodgkin, a famous English physician, in 1832 first described the strange disease now known by his name. All of the patients observed by Hodgkin had enlarged lymph glands and large spleens.

The lymph glands and the spleen are part of a group of tissues, called the reticuloendothelial system. The fact that this system is attacked in Hodgkin's disease has raised the question of some infection being at fault. So far, however, no germ or virus has ever been proved as the cause.

Hodgkin's disease is most common in young people and more frequent in men than in women. Noncontagious, it has been reported from every part of the world.

The first sign is enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck, although not painful.

Some time later, glands in other parts of the body may become enlarged. The victim generally feels well for a long time, but gradually anemia tends to develop. A slight fever may be present, and the patient slowly becomes thin and emaciated.

TEMPORARY IMPROVEMENTS

The patient with Hodgkin's disease usually goes through periods of remarkable improvement. The enlarged lymph glands may disappear almost completely and the general condition may improve for a long time.

The most common form of treatment has been X-rays. This may bring about long periods of almost complete recovery, as the glands shrink and all signs and symptoms disappear for a while. Treatment with drugs has not been particularly successful.

The long-term outlook is serious. Recently, however, there have been several favorable reports on the treatment of patients with Hodgkin's disease with preparations called "nitrogen mustards." It is perhaps too soon to tell definitely whether these substances will prove the answer to the problem of treating Hodgkin's disease.

QUESTION: If the hair is weak and falling out, will shaving the head make the hair stronger and regrow in the bald places?

ANSWER: Except in the few cases where treatment can be made more effective on a bare scalp, it seems unlikely that shaving would help to regrow the hair.

Mental Health Week Gets Off to Big Start

National Mental Health week got off to an auspicious start in Dixon Sunday. More than 1,000 persons accepted the invitation of the Dixon State hospital to view mental health exhibits and to take conducted tours of the institution.

From 1 to 4 p.m. there was entertainment in the recreation hall, featuring a band, an orchestra, Bob Scout drum and bugle corps, and soloists.

Every department of the institution was represented in the recreation hall by exhibit material, and representatives were on hand to explain the functions of the departments.

Automobile traffic into the grounds was so heavy, and parking became such a problem that it was necessary for hospital authorities to station men at strategic points throughout the area to supervise traffic.

Mayor J. Fred Hofmann, Dixon, made a brief address of welcome.

When the exhibit hall closed at 4 o'clock there were still scores of persons asking to be taken on tours of the hospital.

Nine in One Family Die as Train Hits Truck in Tennessee

Carthage, Tenn., April 25—(AP)—A fast freight train rammed a truck crowded with Sunday worshippers at a crossing near here last night, killing 10 persons—nine in the one family—and seriously injuring another.

All eleven were returning from church services to their homes at Hogan's creek when a Tennessee Central railroad train rammed the truck.

An immediate investigation of the accident was being conducted by J. T. Waddell, general manager of the railroad.

A conductor on the train said none of the crew saw the truck until it loomed up before the lights of the engine.

Barris and Riedel plan to descend in their single-engine Sunkist Lady at 11:44 a. m. tomorrow. At that time they will have been aloft 1,008 hours—six full weeks. The old mark, set 10 years ago, was 726 hours.

An outstanding feature of the evening was the exhibiting of the hobbies of the school children in the school auditorium. A great deal of interest in the hobbies was shown by all who visited the exhibit. The showing of the pupil's hobbies has been an annual affair for the past several years. Each year there has been evidence of improvement in the hobbies and an awarness that pupils are becoming more hobby-minded Pupils receiving ribbons in the hobby show were:

Land-fill Is Expensive

Mayor Hofmann said that "taking into consideration all costs and factors, the 20-year cost of land fill would run approximately double the original and operating costs of an incinerator, exclusive of the great additional cost of transportation which over a 20-year period could run the cost of land-fill method up to six or seven times the cost of an incinerator."

"Land-fill, at best is a temporary or emergency measure brought on in army camps and industrial areas. However, the United States government in permanent camps and installations used incinerators," the mayor concluded.

Crowd of 10,000 Sees Vest Pocket Plane Destroyed

Jamkson, Miss., April 25—(AP)—A 25-year-old stunt flier was killed yesterday when his 165-pound "vest pocket" plane crashed 400 feet from 10,000 air show spectators. He was Billy Fischer of Decorah, Iowa.

The left wing snapped off at the fuselage. Rex English, director of the show, said the plane "threw" a propellor blade, setting up a motor vibration which shook the motor loose and snapped off the wing.

An instant before the crash, from an altitude of 100 feet, the public-address system reported Fischer's speed at 220 miles an hour. He had been billed as "the national champion light plane precision acrobatic champion."

Ex-convict Admits Killing Young Boy

New York, April 25—(AP)—A man released from prison less than three weeks ago has admitted the strangulation slaying of an eight-year old boy, Bronx assistant district attorney Edward F. Breslin says.

The prisoner, John Saiu, 36, denied, however, that there was any sex perversion motive for the killing of Jack Goldsmith eleven days ago. The district attorney's office said yesterday. The medical examiner's office previously had reported that an autopsy showed the boy was the victim of a sex attack.

Saiu, who was booked on a homicide charge, was quoted as saying he killed the boy after an argument. The body of the youngster was found April 15.

SOCIETY

Lee County Council Has Dinner-Meet

The Lee County Council of Parents and Teachers met at the Nachusa Hotel Thursday evening for a 6:30 dinner meeting. This meeting was called by Miss Esther Barton, president of the council, to present and discuss reports of the 47th annual convention of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers which was held at the Palmer House in Chicago April 12 and 13.

Miss Barton was the delegate appointed by the PTA units which are affiliated with the council, to attend the convention. In order that the various units might benefit from this convention, Miss Barton prepared mimeograph sheets entitled "Gleanings From the Meetings" which were distributed among the group.

Because there were many sessions going at the same time, it was necessary for the delegates to select meetings which would be of greatest value to the PTA units she was representing. The attendance at the convention was much larger than various meeting rooms could accommodate and it proved to me quite a problem getting into the sessions.

Attends Lecture

The sessions Miss Barton attended included a lecture by Arnold Gesell, M. D., of Yale University of Medicine in which he spoke of the amount of attention which is being given legislation in comparison with that which is given the laws which govern the development of the child and his growth. Emphasis was placed on the importance of handling the child's life during the first ten year period of his life, as a means of lessening the hazards of adolescence, with definite emphasis on the importance of trained personnel.

Several sessions stressed the importance of a better relationship between the school and the home.

Over and over again the following points were brought out: (1) A student representative should be included on the PTA planning committee; (2) In planning the program, survey the needs of your school and your community and plan around them.

There are 107 councils in the state of Illinois with membership from 908 PTA units. The projects which have been carried on by the various councils include study courses, health, education, home and family life, recreation, community service, extension, and ways and means to carry on these projects.

Mrs. Paul Stripe was in charge of arrangements for this dinner meeting.

Dixon Afternoon Unit at Grobes

When the Dixon Afternoon Home Bureau unit met with Mrs. John Grobe for a desert luncheon Wednesday, there were 25 members and guests present. Mrs. Grobe was assisted by Mrs. Harvey Seybert.

The meeting was opened by the music chairman, Mrs. Francis Jennings, who led in singing the Home Bureau song. After repeating the Home Bureau aim, roll call was answered by naming a kitchen gadget. Mrs. Grobe read the minutes and gave the treasurers report after which the vice-chairman, Mrs. J. Fred Johnson, gave details concerning the membership contest now on in Lee county.

In the 4-H report, all were reminded that April 26th will be the last date for enrollment in the Dixie Girls club. The girls are to start on the "clothing" project at the next meeting to be held at the Loveland building Tuesday night at 7:30. Mothers of the girls are especially urged to attend. The county 4-H rally will be held in Amboy April 29th. Mrs. Leon Garrison, health chairman, gave the lesson on "Good Posture".

Homemakers Camp

Mrs. Eric Gerdes, chairman, again reminded the members of the dates for Homemakers camp, August 8th, 9th and 10th. The leather craft school to be held at Amboy on Wednesday, April 27th will be an all-day meeting. A communication about "Clean-up" week in Dixon was read, also a letter from one of the members, Mrs. Fred Gates, who is now visiting in California. The program for the coming year was reviewed and an explanation made in regard to the fiscal year being from December to December of each year. A discussion was led by Mrs. Gerdes as to where the unit might choose to go when taking a tour which was planned for May. Mrs. Henry Dressel was named chairman of the committee to get details for the tour.

Mrs. Ivan Wakeley cordially invited the members and guests to her home for a scramble dinner on Wednesday, May 18th, with Mrs. Leon Garrison as co-hostess. Picnic rules will prevail.

The major lesson, "Consumers Information on Purchasing of Machines Irons and Ironers" was given by Mrs. F. L. Thomas and Mrs. N. V. Christensen, in the form of a radio quiz program. Each member had an opportunity to take part in the discussion.

The minor lesson on "Removal of Stains" was demonstrated by Mrs. Grobe and Mrs. Harvey Seybert. Several kinds of stains were removed.

Guests at this meeting were Mrs. Lyle Wade, Mrs. LeRoy C. Glessner, Mrs. Henry Grobe, Mrs. W. H. Meppen and Mrs. Leonard Glenn. The unit welcomed Mrs. E. L. Houden, Mrs. Harold Falk, Mrs. Kenneth Miller and Mrs. F. J. Grninger as new members.

ST. LUKE'S GUILD

St. Luke's Guild will meet Thursday evening, April 28th, at 8 o'clock at the home of Miss Kathryn Wright. Miss Marian Ahrens is co-hostess.

All members are urged to be present.

Japanese Take Their Baseball Seriously

Osaka, Japan, April 25—(AP)—One person was killed and 27 were injured yesterday in a mad scramble by baseball fans to get to a doubleheader between the Tokyo Giants and the Hanshin Tigers.

More than 100,000 fans crowded into the stadium built to seat 73,000. Fans were all over the dugouts and sidelines. The game was delayed 20 minutes in the fifth when excited fans raced on the field after a homer had been hit.

Most of the injuries were received before the spectators reached the stadium. The man who was killed fell in the rush from the railway station. He was trampled along with most of the 27 who were killed.

Primitive peoples tatooed themselves, primarily for embellishment, although the figures also had a symbolic significance.

'Clean Up' Week Campaign Gets Underway Here Today

Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Week formally opened in Dixon Saturday.

General Chairman Ed Mack and his committees launched into their well planned program of spring house cleaning. As a constant reminder of the campaign which officially extends through next Saturday, but will actually continue throughout the summer, Chairman Mack placed a very novel and fitting banner across First st. west of Galena ave. Seven brooms are suspended on a rope on each of which is spelled out the words "CLEAN-UP."

The campaign which is sponsored by the Dixon Chamber of Commerce is city wide in its scope. Householders will receive another hint when door knob reminders will be distributed throughout the city. This will list suggested things which the householder can do to make the home and Dixon a better place in which to live.

These door knob reminders list the following:

Jake Johnson Helps

Chairman Mack and Fire Chief Jake Johnson are cooperating during the week combining the Clean-up week with a fire prevention drive. Householders are urged to remove all rubbish from basements, attics and closets and thus eliminate in every way possible, any fire hazard.

Boy and Girl Scout organizations of the city are entering whole-heartedly in the campaign of spring house-cleaning in the city. Both groups have already assisted in the drive and are to continue througout the week. One objective of the Boy Scouts is to clean up the river bank between Galena and Peoria avenues on the south side of the river which has the appearance of a public dumping ground. The north bank has been materially beautified during the past winter by the erection of the stone wall but the south bank is littered with waste paper, broken bottles and tin cans as well as other refuse. Boy Scout troop No. 88 last week volunteered to assist in cleaning up this unsightly condition, provided that trucks would be furnished to haul the debris away.

The Boy Scouts, chairman Ed Mack announced today, will establish an all-summer service to property owners of Dixon. Persons desiring to have their lawns raked or mowed may call the Dixon Chamber of Commerce.

Those Pesty Mosquitos

Attention is again called to the city owned spray machine which can be used for both mosquito abatement and weed control. Service of the sprayer and the furnishing of the proper chemicals for use in each instance, can be furnished by the city at a nominal cost to the property owner. With this service available, every citizen of Dixon is appealed to in an effort to secure 100 per cent cooperation in spraying of their property, both lawns and shrubbery, to eradicate both mosquitos and flies during the coming summer months.

Serge Rubinstein Is in the Courts Again

New York, April 25 (AP)—Serge Rubinstein, international financier, was rearrested today on a stock fraud charge immediately after his release upon completing a two-year term for draft-dodging.

Rubinstein pleaded innocent to two indictments based on an alleged $3,000,000 stock rigging deal in 1945 and 1946. One indictment charged conspiracy and the other alleged violation of the securities and exchange act.

Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan fixed bail at $50,000 and denied a defense application that Rubenstein be paroled in custody of counsel until bail was furnished. The court fixed May 9 for the filing of motions.

Brannan Can't Say Farm Program Cost

Washington, April 25—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan again told congress today that it is not possible to forecast the cost of the administration's proposed new farm program.

He said the difficulty about making estimates is that the cost question is tied in tightly to general business conditions.

ship causing the fatal injuries.

Work to Revive Her

Mrs. Haycraft's body was brought to shore and a resuscitator squad which included Fire Chief Ralph Stiles and Assistant Chief Wendell Long, of Oregon, and Chief Deputy Sheriff Willard Burright, also of Oregon, worked over her for about an hour. Dr. W. S. Bowen of Oregon then pronounced her dead.

Also at the scene aiding in the investigation and other details were State Policemen Howard Riverdahl and Floyd Kingsbury.

The victim's husband said that he had been a licensed pilot for more than two years and that he and his wife had left that Cherry Valley airport, near Rockford, early in the afternoon, cruising about a bit before deciding to go to Dixon for dinner. His wife had expressed a desire to see the spring scenery along the river, Haycraft stated, and for that reason he took the river course.

Haycraft is a member of a Rockford flying club which owns the craft he was flying. It is a Piper Cub coupe in which a place for one passenger is situated beside the pilot. The victim's husband said that he estimated he was flying about 90 miles per hour at the time of the tragedy.

The Haycrafts lived near Monroe Center on a five-acre farm. Haycraft commutes to Rockford where he is employed by the Damascus Steel Co. as a maintenance man. It was the custom of the Haycraft's to take Sunday aerial trips.

Preliminary examination disclosed that the tragedy survivor suffered only minor bruises. However, he was to be taken to a hospital for further check-up.

Attempt Is Made to Kill Evarts Mayor

Evarts, Ky., April 25 (AP)—State police today were investigating an apparent attempt to kill Mayor E. H. Bailey.

Officers said a bundle of 20 sticks of dynamite was found under the mayor's bedroom window about 9:30 o'clock this morning. The fuse had burned almost to the can before it was extinguished, they added. The mayor could not be reached immediately for comment.

Mayor Bailey took office in January, 1948, under a pledge to clean liquor and gambling interests from this Harlan county mining community of 2,100 population. Harlan county is legally dry.

Evarts has had six police chiefs since last August. One of the former chiefs was slain, another was convicted of manslaughter and the rest resigned.

Comedian Was Funny But It Wasn't Act

Bishop Auckland, England, Apr. 25—(AP)—Comedian Alex Munro clutched his throat and fell to the floor of the stage.

The audience tittered. They roared as he made weird faces and crawled to the wings. The laughter grew as his assistant asked "is there a doctor in the house."

Before returning to take a bow Munro chalked a message on the off-stage floor which got him a doctor:

"Plate and false tooth stuck in my throat."

Lewis and Policy Makers Forking on New Mine Demands

Washington, April 25—(AP)—John L. Lewis and his 200-man union policy committee today began framing demands for a new soft coal miners contract.

The bushy-browed united mine workers' chief and his top aides kept silent about their discussions at a morning session.

Asked for comment on likely demands in forthcoming contract talks with operators, Lewis told reporters the newspapers already have been fed correct predictions "with wild abandon."

The present bituminous agreement expires June 30. Out of the UMW demands may come a 1949 bargaining pattern for other labor unions. These may stress improved working conditions and more benefits rather than wage boosts.

Lewis spent two hours with the policy committee in the morning. Then he left UMW headquarters and said he had to keep an outside engagement. As he piled into a taxicab he said he would be back for an afternoon session.

Three Auto Crashes Over the Week-end

Three automobile accidents were reported to the police over the week-end. Saturday at Third St. and Henrepin Ave., a car driven by Charles F. Albrecht, Rt. 1, Dixon, collided with an auto driven by Allan C. White, 20, of Dixon.

In another accident Saturday at Ninth St. and Lincoln Ave., a car driven by Clarence Hilier, 1016 W. Seventh St., and one driven by Harold Switzer, Rt. 2, Dixon, collided. Minor damage resulted.

On Sunday, a truck operated by Harry Springer, 610 First Ave., collided with a car Merle Price, 1020 N. Galena Ave., was driving. There was considerable damage to the Price car.

Italians Pray for Rain—and It Comes

Rome, April 25—(AP)—Prayers were said in Rome's more than 400 churches today for rain—and rain came.

It broke the greatest Italian drought in 30 years. Because of it, electricity has been rationed throughout Italy.

Rome's metropolitan office reported rain was falling in Rome, Seina, Florence and many other parts of Italy. Over Sardinia there were promising clouds.

Amboy Lightweights Win Sectional Grade School Track Crown

Six Records Toppled in 29th Annual Event; Dukes Sixth in Class A; Amboy Fifth in B

By CLIFF COUGHLIN
Telegraph Sports Editor

Clinton, Ia.—(Special)—Powerful Clinton high, host school to the 29th annual running of the Gateway Classic, won the Class A championship here Saturday, its squad showing balanced power particularly in the short distances.

Clinton's 73½ points nosed out its Iowa neighbor Davenport, who had 67 while Sterling of the North Central conference won third with 43½.

Fulton high, situated in Illinois, a bridge-length away from Clinton, kept the meet a Mississippi river festival as it arrived on top of the Class B division. Fulton's 50 points was enough to top Princeton of the NCIC, which had 42½ points on the strength of some splendid running by Ed Walker, senior dash man, who set a new 100-yard dash mark, and a 880-yard relay team which also established a new meet record.

Coach A. C. Bowers' Dixon high school squad, which didn't figure too heavily at the outset, wound up sixth place in the Class A. Durable Ed Hoyle ran second in the mile, Dave Lahey got a second in the broad jump, missing a tie for the championship by one-quarter of an inch, and Edmund Ashford, Duke high jumper, got in on a three-way tie for fifth in his event to gain another one-third of a point.

* * *

The afternoon preliminaries were run off in such windy conditions that it was difficult to keep the hurdles upright and the crossbar on the high and pole vault standards. The night-time finals found the weather near the freezing mark.

That didn't stop the handful of crack athletes from breaking some records however. Record-breaking remained in the sphere of the Class B competitors. They broke five, all told, as compared to one for the Class A schools. The really championship times, in most cases, were set by the smaller schools.

For instance, Dick Wickstrand, of Galva, whipped through the 220 dash in record time of :23.1 to break the mark set by Lotz of Lanark in the 1948 by seven-tenths of a second. Dick also won the high hurdles defeating, among others, Don Swartzendruber, billed as Iowa's greatest athlete, who holds the Gateway record in that event. He also won the broad jump.

* * *

Ed Walker, of Class B Princeton, bested Wickstrand at the wire in the 100-yard dash to set another new record. His time was 10.3, particularly good for the wintry night. Lotz of Lanark also held that record with a 10.4 set last year. Walker finished second to Wickstrand in the 220-yard dash however, as the Galvan put on a blazing, long-stride finish.

* * *

Ronnie Ellis of Amboy was easily the victor in the pole vault event, in which he holds the record. He topped 10 feet 6 inches to beat Joe Springer of Princeton. Amboy's 15 points which was good enough to get it a tie for fifth, were gained in the pole vault, by Elmo Litts' third in the 880, and a third in the medley relay, which alone netted them six points.

Hoyle of the Dukes led Tom Conrardy of Loras academy, Dubuque, Ia., for more than two laps. Then he was challenged by both Conrardy and James Hill of Davenport, but shook off the latter in the home stretch as Conrardy went on to win.

* * *

The Dukes' Don Utter qualified in the high hurdles during the afternoon despite a poor start but was vanquished in the finals in the red-hot finish led by Wickstrand.

Walker and Wickstrand were joined on the list of outstanding Class B performers by Don Smith of Erie, who captured the half-mile and mile crowns in a spectacular performance. He ran the half in 2:07 to beat the record by three-tenths of a second and after setting a new mark in the mile run. He lowered his old mark of 4:44.3 to 4:38.3 as he led the second place man by almost 200 yards.

* * *

The lone record-breaking performance in the Class A was by Bob Twardock of Sterling who hurled the discus 143 feet to top the previous record of 142 feet set last year.

Princeton's team of Markman, Gapinski, Ruble and Walker established a new record in the 880-yard relay. They ran it in 1:37.2 to chop seven-tenths off the old mark.

For protection against rival headhunters, when on an expedition, fierce savages of Formosa wear baskets over their heads.

Mother (entering room, unexpectedly): "Well, I never—"
Daughter: "Oh mother, you must have!"

The superstition that finding a horseshoe and nailing it over the door brings good luck appears to be merely a modification of a belief in early times when horseshoes were rare and were believed to have a protective charm.

Don Utter, Dixon high school junior, is shown, second from right, finishing second in his preliminary heat in the 120-yard high hurdles Saturday at the Gateway Classic. Utter finished out of the point-making in the final heat.

COUGHLIN'S CORNER

By CLIFF

NOTES FROM THE GATEWAY CLASSIC: The lovely Gateway queen, Miss Patricia Cavanaugh, looked very un-queenlike in the wintry atmosphere . . . No sooner had she been introduced, than she and her attendants bundled into sweaters and coats and huddled at the awards table . . . Attendance, despite the cold night weather, was capacity, with a spill-over into the infield and the sidelines.

* * *

THIS EVENT IS whomped up and nourished by the Clinton Chamber of Commerce and appears to be a "good deal" for Chambers of Commerce . . . There's a couple of thousand people attending and they've all got to be fed . . . Saturday's meet was held earlier than usual since the Drake Relays, the world series of trackdom in Iowa, had conflicted with the later date — There's a prep section to the Drake event.

* * *

VETERANS LIKE Athletic Director A. C. Bowers of Dixon, was pleased with the way the event was conducted . . . The weather, kind friends, was terrific . . . The wind in the afternoon whipped cinders into one's eyes at a rate of one a second . . . We betcha! . . . It was so terrific that the scorers had trouble keeping their record sheets fastened to the clip boards . . . The Duke coaching staff, and practically everyone who could promote a towel and soap, took a shower after the afternoon preliminaries . . . Then they took a "powder" to the Hotel Lafayette where they were guests of the Chamber of Commerce at a dinner.

* * *

TRACK FANS should lay plans now for the North Central conference meet at Sterling . . . You'll see some top performers, such as Ed Hoyle, Dixon and Don Buhn, Princeton, in the mile; Ray Kenaga, Sterling, in the pole vault; Ed Walker, Princeton, in the dash events; a good Princeton relay team in the 880-yard event; Pratt, Princeton, in the discus; Charles Sundeen, and Ray Fortune, both of Geneseo, and Bill Booker, Hall township, in the shot put.

* * *

COACH LON SCOFIELD, Dixon bantered a bit with Ed Rashke, cage mentor at Clinton high, with both, we fear, playing down their chances for victory next year . . . Rashke will turn up with eight lettermen next season . . . And Scofield, if the truth is known, won't be so hard put for a good ball club.

No Hymns for Those White Sox, Please

Hold off on those flowers—the patient is far from dead.

The patient, of course, is the Chicago White Sox, the club that was doomed by the experts to die of loneliness in the dreary confines of the American league basement.

Apparently the White Sox have different ideas on the subject. Judging from today's standings, the Sox not only are very much alive, but are making some of the other teams roll over and play dead.

The end of the first week of play finds the Sox tied with the Philadelphia Athletics for second place, only half a game behind the fast-moving New York Yankees. They have won five and lost only two, all their victories coming in a row.

* * *

Splendid pitching by Bill Wight and Randy Gumpert yesterday enabled the White Sox to whip the St. Louis Browns twice, 2-1 and 4-0, giving them a sweep of the four-game series. Wight needed the help of some swell relief pitching by Matt Surkont, Rochester draftee, and a two-run ninth inning rally by his mates to escape being charged with a 1-0 setback. Surkont, who worked the ninth, got the victory. Gumpert's performance was more gilt-edged. He permitted only three singles and allowed no Brownie runner to pass second base.

* * *

Jack Onslow, 59-year-old freshman coach in the Sox' 1949 renovation, says his team is winning because "we have great spirit, plenty of hustle and good pitching so far."

Onslow, known as a whip-cracking skipper, also has a less wooden reason for the club's early success.

"We were not especially pleased to be picked by most experts to finish last again," he observes. "We have a lot of young fellows besides some pretty good carry-over veterans on this team and they weren't happy to be counted out before they start."

Onslow has emphatically declared ever since he succeeded Manager Ted Lyons a half hour after the 1948 campaign ended that "the Sox won't be last in 1949."

* * *

Joe Garagiola doubled home Enos Slaughter with the run that gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 triumph over the Chicago Cubs. The blow came in the last half of the ninth with two out.

Garagiola's Triple Does It for Cards Over Cubs in Ninth

(By the Associated Press)

Joe Garagiola picked an ideal time for his first hit of the 1949 season.

The St. Louis Cardinal catcher came up with a booming double with two out and the game tied in the last of the ninth.

The result—the Cardinals took the final game of the series from the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 4.

Jim Hearn started for St. Louis but weakened in the sixth and seventh as the Cubs evened the score. Ted Wilks finished the game and got credit for the victory.

Ralph Hamner, third hurler for the Cubs, was the loser.

'Dome' Rink Celebrates Anniversary

The Dome Rink one of the outstanding Roller skating centers in the middle west is celebrating its 10th anniversary as a recreation center in Dixon on Tuesday April 26th Here thousands young and old alike have enjoyed roller skating at it's best

The building itself, is of unique design, being the first dome shaped building without a center support, and where the sides can be thrown open in the summer to let thousands enjoy the music and watch the skaters glide across the maple floor

The building has an historical background, as it was a Chautauqua auditorium where famous stars such as Madam Schumann Heink William Jennings Bryan, William Howard Taft and many other celebrities have appeared in the past

After the fall of the Gay Nineties the building stood idle until 1939 when Mr Ed Holbrook converted the building into the largest open air rink in the world

And now on the 10th anniversary we say the Dome is remembered fair and wide for bringing to this community this clean and wholesome entertainment, enjoyed by all

Ed Holbrook who operates the Dome rink is one of a very few rink managers who actually works his own floor- that is he puts on skates himself and sees that the skaters conduct themselves properly.

London April 25 — (AP) — They're still cold shouldering the Duchess of Windsor

British Official Says We Are Making Britons Slaves

Moscow April 25 (AP)— A British embassy official is quoted in the Communist party newspaper here as charging the British government with making the British people "slaves of American masters"

He was further quoted as saying the Atlantic Pact is a war bloc of imperialist states and that the Soviet Union is the leading force in the struggle for peace

The official was identified by Pravda the Communist newspaper as Archibald R J Ingleby editor-in-chief of the Russian language newspaper Britanski Soyuznik (British Ally) put out by the British foreign office for distribution in Russia

Pravda yesterday printed a lengthy letter over Johnston's signature The letter declared the British embassy was not interested in improving British Soviet relations but in fact does everything to worsen these relations

Johnston was quoted as saying he had decided to return from Russia to devote all of his energy and talents to the question of peace

The British embassy began an investigation of the case but did not issue any statement

"Nothing To Be Done"

In London, the foreign office said it had received no report A spokesman said unofficially however that "apparently there is nothing to be done about it and no comment seems necessary" Johnston is of course free to give up his job if he doesn't like it for any reason)

The letter in Pravda said

For the Englishman which avoided all one sees outrages the case of slaves of Hitlers morals there now is being prepared no less horrible fate — to be slaves of American masters

"Now on the streets of London there are American soldiers and officers In the restaurants are American businessmen and tourists traveling salesmen and diggers

Johnston was quoted as saying that the press attache of the British embassy informed him about two weeks ago that a campaign of "cover projection" must be begun in Britanski Soyuznik The letter added

I must explain this is an English term It means that Britanski Soyuznik must print articles and photographs demonstrating the military and economic power of America and England in order to frighten the Soviet people and to prove to them the western democracies possess invisible arms

Showed No Enthusiasm

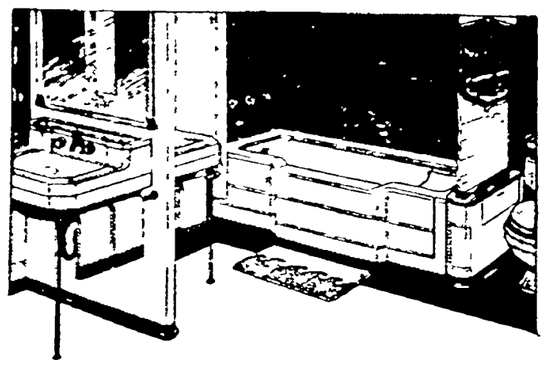

The workers in the British embassy in Moscow met this proposal without enthusiasm but it would be naive to suppose their opposition was founded on a peace loving basis Notwithstanding their convictions they recognize with regret that the Soviet people cannot be terrorized

Johnston who has been in Russia since February 1947, formerly worked for the London News Chronicle

Britanski Soyuznik comes out in Moscow once a week in an edition of 40 000 to 50 000 copies It started during the war It carries articles on Britain British-Russian relations and official speeches of British leaders The material is prepared in London and sent to Moscow for editing and publication

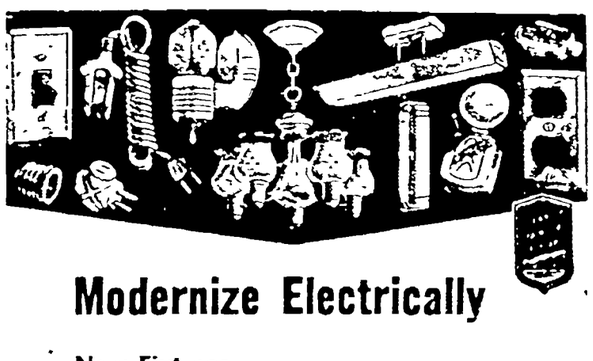

Worshippers of Apollo hailed him for many achievements including them for destroying mice
